

Child Care Payments

We may be able to make Child Care payments if a child's caregiver or parent dies because of Qualifying Service.

Who can get this

You may be able to get Child Care if:

- your spouse or partner died because of Qualifying Operational Service after 1 April 1974 outside of Viet Nam
- your child was born within 12 months of your spouse or partners death, and
- the child was dependent on the surviving parent or the spouse or partner that died.

Qualifying Operational Service explained (<https://www.veteransaffairs.mil.nz/eligibility/qualifying-service/>)

What you can get

This is a payment to go towards paying for childcare.

Child Care payments will stop if:

- ACC can provide the payment—but we'll top up the payments if they pay you less than what we can
- the child has turned 14 years of age.

The Child Care payments will continue if the child:

- is older than 14, and
- has a physical or mental condition that needs childcare.

When considering whether to continue childcare payments, we will also take into account:

- whether the person caring for the child is employed
- whether the person caring for the child has a new spouse or partner
- the number of children the veteran has
- where the child or children live
- the accessibility of organised childcare
- other relevant circumstances of the family.
